

South Plains College Academic Probation Advising Packet

Students at South Plains College are placed or continue on Academic Probation after failing to achieve a 2.0 cumulative GPA (good academic standing) after semester grades are posted. Students who enroll while they are classified as being on academic probation may continue to enroll in succeeding semesters providing they achieve at least a 2.00 GPA each semester, even though their cumulative GPA is still below 2.00. Students will be removed from academic probation only when they have raised their cumulative GPA to at least 2.00.

A registration block is placed on the records of students on academic probation, preventing them from self-enrolling or changing an existing schedule. Students can still make payment arrangements, check financial aid, and access an unofficial transcript on TexanConnect.

The process of the Academic Probation Advising program consists of completing the Academic Probation Exercise (attached) and seeing an advisor to discuss your educational plans and review your previous college coursework. If you are already enrolled for the upcoming semester, changes may be necessary depending on previous grades, financial aid/scholarship requirements, degree plan requirements or other factors that impact your success.

The following steps are listed for students in their probation letter and are on the Admissions website.

STEP 1 – Complete and print out the Academic Probation Exercise. Review the attached Tips Flyer for more information.

STEP 2 – Once you have completed the Exercise, you must contact an advisors to schedule an appointment. Take your packet to the appointment. Advisor information can be located on the Our Advisors page or the Employee Directory.

STEP 3 – You and the advisor will review your packet, and you will receive the advisor's recommendation including, but not limited to, limitation of number of hours, campus referrals, and communication with your advisor until you reach good academic standing (minimum cumulative 2.0 GPA).

STEP 4 – Continue to meet with an advisor throughout the semester and follow any recommendations made to aid your successful return to good academic standing.

Registration dates the week of January 7th for Spring 2019 are available on the Admissions website.

Academic Probation Tips

Preparing for the Advising Visit

- Check your unofficial transcript on TexanConnect before you visit your advisor.
  - Reflect on study habits/behaviors that affected your GPA to help set goals for the upcoming semester.
- If you failed one or more classes, and your major has not changed, consider re-taking them as soon as possible-this is the fastest way to improve your GPA.
- Consider taking fewer hours this semester.
  - Our research on SPC students shows that students who take fewer hours when on academic probation are more successful in course completion and GPA, and get off probation faster.
- Complete the Probation Exercise before your appointment.
  - This exercise is important. It helps you and your advisor develop an Educational Success Plan.
  - Take the time to reflect on the previous semester and focus on using your academic strengths to improve your grades.
  - You can find the Probation Exercise on the Admissions website. If you have trouble locating the form please contact Advising and Testing at 806-716-2366.
  - If you do not have access to a printer, you may utilize campus computer labs at the following locations:
    - Lubbock Center computer lab is in Room 109
    - Reese Center computer lab is in Building 8 Room 827
    - Levelland computer lab is in the Technology Center
    - Plainview Center computers can be reserved by calling 806-716-4302
- If you already have a course schedule, you will still need to see an advisor to discuss your Educational Success Plan.
- If you are receiving Financial Aid (which includes grants AND loans) -
  - Visit with the Financial Aid Office and check on your financial aid status immediately.
  - Academic Probation is separate from Financial Aid Warning.

Above all, don't be afraid to ask questions - we are here to help!

Course Recommendation for Academic Probation Students

EDUC 1300. ACADEMIC STRATEGIES (Based on Learning Frameworks). (3:3:0)

This course is a study of the 1) research and theory in the psychology of learning, cognition, and motivation, 2) factors that impact learning, and 3) application of learning strategies. Theoretical models of strategic learning, cognition, and motivation serve as the conceptual basis for the introduction of college-level student academic strategies. Students use assessment instruments (e.g., learning inventories) to help them identify their own strengths and weaknesses as strategic learners.

Note: Students are expected to integrate and apply the learning skills discussed across their own academic programs and become effective and efficient learners. Students developing these skills should be able to continually draw from the theoretical models they have learned. This course is recommended for nontraditional students and students on academic probation and is required for students returning to college after academic suspension or by placement by the Admissions Committee. (Cross-listed as EDUC 1300 and PSYC 1300, ACGM)
