From this report, a demographic snapshot of the student body is compiled for analysis and planning. This information was presented to the Board of Regents in exhibit #4565. Mr. John said the College reported an official fall enrollment of 8,867 students. He reported that 6,644 students or 75 percent are college-level students, while 2,223 or 25 percent are dual credit students. Mr. John discussed student demographic data for all students in the following areas: gender, ethnicity, age, first time in college, course load, residency, and major field of study. The College continues to enroll more women than men with 59.9% of the student headcount being female. Enrollment of men has declined about 15.0 percent in the past five years, while enrollment of women has remained stable. The average age of students has remained stable at 22 years with traditional college-age students, age 24 and younger, accounting for 80 percent of the student body. The number of first-time-in-college from high school students decreased 7.3 percent for the 2020 fall semester. Mr. John attributed this decline, as well as the overall 3.4 percent enrollment decline for the semester, to the COVID-19 pandemic and the region’s economic recession. The student body continues to grow in diversity with 58 percent of students being of a racial or ethnic minority. Hispanic students make up 49.4 percent of students at SPC. He also noted that 85 percent of student enrolled this fall reside in the College’s 15-county service area.
