Office Hours — Let’s Connect!

Office hours are a great time to ask questions, talk through assignments, review feedback, or check in about your progress. You never need a “big reason” to attend—these hours are for you.

Mondays	Tuesday-Friday
10:00am-12:00pm (noon)	By Appointment

Office hours are held on Zoom.  Zoom link: Available in Blackboard

Required Draft Review Meetings (You’re Not Doing This Alone!)

All students are required to meet one-on-one with me, our academic coach, a tutor through the SPC Writing Center, or a tutor through Brainfuse (online), during specific points in the semester to review essay drafts.

Meetings take place via Zoom.

Tentative meeting weeks: Weeks 4 and 7

A sign-up link will be posted in the weekly module when it's time to schedule.

These meetings are required and are designed to:

- Help you strengthen your draft
 - Answer questions before you revise
 - Set you up for a stronger final essay

Additional Meetings with Tutors

All students are encouraged to meet with a tutor at any point during the semester—either:

- In person, or
- Online through Brainfuse / Tutor.com

In some cases, I may require a student to meet with a tutor if additional support would be helpful.

Extra Credit Bonus!

Anytime you meet with a tutor and provide proof of attendance, you will earn extra credit.

Required Materials for Class

- FREE OER Textbook
You will receive a digital chapter each week directly in Blackboard—no book purchase required!

To participate fully in this course, you will need:

1. Reliable access to a computer with Wi-Fi
2. A quiet space where you can listen and participate in Zoom sessions
3. A 3-ring binder with loose paper
4. Highlighters, pens, and pencils
5. A flash/jump drive to save your work
6. Word processing software:
 - Microsoft Word or Google Docs only
 - Pages (for Macbook users) is not accepted
 - MacBook users must convert Pages documents to Word or PDF before submitting assignments

ENGL 1301: Learning Objectives

Department: English and Philosophy

ENGL 1301 Course Description: This course is an intensive study and practice of the composition process from invention and researching to drafting, revising, and editing, both individually and collaboratively. The curriculum includes the teaching of effective rhetorical modes as well as audience, purpose, arrangement, style, and collateral readings. The instructional focus is on writing the academic essay as a vehicle for learning, communicating, and critical analysis.

Core Curriculum Requirement

ENGL 1301 partially satisfies a Core Curriculum Requirement: Communications Foundational Component Area (010)

- Communication Skills — to include effective written, oral, and visual communication
- Critical Thinking Skills — to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation, and synthesis of information
- Teamwork — to include the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal
- Personal Responsibility — to include the ability to connect choices, actions, and consequences to ethical decision-making

Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of individual and collaborative writing processes.
2. Write essays that exhibit logic, unity, development, and coherence.
3. Develop ideas with appropriate support and attribution.
4. Write in a style appropriate to the audience and purpose.
5. Read, reflect, and respond critically to a variety of texts.
6. Use American English, with an emphasis on correct grammar, voice, parallelism, punctuation, spelling, and mechanics in language appropriate for academic essays.
7. Write a minimum of six 500-word essays.

INRW 0300: Integrated Reading and Writing Objectives

Departments:

English and Philosophy / The Teaching and Learning Center / Department of College Literacy and Education

INRW 0300 Course Description: INRW 0300 serves as a paired support course for students enrolled in ENGL 1301 who are not yet TSI-complete in reading and/or writing. The focus is on teaching students critical reading and academic writing skills to equip them for success in Composition I. Successful completion of this course fulfills TSI requirements for reading and/or writing.

Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

1. Locate explicit textual information, draw complex inferences, and describe, analyze, and evaluate the information within and across multiple texts of varying lengths.
 2. Comprehend and use vocabulary effectively in oral communication, reading, and writing.
 3. Identify and analyze the audience, purpose, and message across a variety of texts.
 4. Describe and apply insights gained from reading and writing a variety of texts.
 5. Compose a variety of texts that demonstrate reading comprehension, clear focus, logical development of ideas, and use of appropriate language that advance the writer's purpose.
 6. Determine and use effective approaches and rhetorical strategies for given reading and writing situations.
 7. Generate ideas and gather information relevant to the topic and purpose, incorporating the ideas and words of other writers in student writing using established strategies.
 8. Evaluate relevance and quality of ideas and information in recognizing, formulating, and developing a claim.
 9. Develop and use effective reading and revision strategies to strengthen the writer's ability to compose college-level writing assignments.
 10. Recognize and apply the conventions of Standard English in reading and writing.

Course Grades & What They Mean

Because this is a corequisite (joined) course, the grade you earn in ENGL 1301 will be the same grade you earn in INRW 0300, and vice versa. These two courses work together to support your growth as a reader and writer.

While a "D" is considered passing the course, for students needing ENGL 1302 (Comp II) for their majors, and/or for students planning to transfer to another college, a grade of C or better will need to be earned.*

How Your Grade Is Determined

Your grades on assignments, quizzes, homework, digital work, drafts, revisions, essays, reflections, and participation activities all serve as indicators of your progress toward college-level reading and writing skills.

Students are expected to:

- Keep an ongoing record of their grades
- Regularly monitor academic progress in the Blackboard gradebook

Course Grade Breakdown

Course Component	Percentage of Final Grade
Drafts (Essays 1, 2, and 3)	10% total (3.33% each)
Revised Essays (Essays 1, 2, and 3)	45% total Essay 1 = 10% Essay 2 = 15% Essay 3 = 20%
Post-Essay Reflection Assessments	25% total Essay 1 Reflection = 5% Essays 2 & 3 Reflections = 10% each
Weekly Homework, Assessments, Pre-writing, Grammar, Discussion & Participation	20%
TOTAL	100%

SPC Grading Scale

Percentage	Letter Grade
90–100	A
80–89	B
70–79	C
60–69	D
0–59	F

Rounding Policy

I only round up to the next whole number when a student's final average is at a 59, 69, 79, or 89.
Example: a 79.3 rounds to an 80.

Participation & Enrollment Status

Please be aware that logging in alone does not count as participation.

- If a student logs in but does not complete any assignments or discussion posts by the 12th class day (June 16, 2026), the student will be dropped from the course (ENGL and INRW) in accordance with college policy.

After the 12th class day, I rarely drop students. Students are typically only dropped in extreme situations (such as inappropriate online behavior or violations of academic and/or conduct policies).

Because of this, it is very important that you monitor your progress and withdraw from the course on your own if you find that you are not able to succeed.

Unforeseen Circumstances

I understand that life doesn't always go as planned. If you experience an unforeseen circumstance—such as an illness or a family emergency—please contact me as soon as possible and before the assignment deadline.

While I always aim to be fair and understanding, please know that due date extensions are not automatic and are granted at the instructor's discretion. If an extension is approved, it will typically be offered once. Any additional missed work after that may result in a grade of 0. In some cases, I may request written documentation to better understand the situation, determine appropriate next steps, and/o in instances where several requests for extensions may have been made.

Extra Credit Opportunities

There will be up to FIVE extra credit opportunities offered throughout the semester, and these will be clearly announced in the weekly course modules in Blackboard. Extra credit is counted as an assignment credit!

Additionally, any time you meet with a tutor (in addition to the required draft review meetings), you will receive extra credit toward discussion/participation.

Dr. W's Tip 💡

Extra credit is meant to support effort and engagement—not replace missed work. Stay active in the course, so you don't miss these opportunities!

Dropped Grades at the End of the Semester

To help balance the occasional off week:

- Your two lowest homework/assignment/discussion grades will be dropped at the end of the semester.

Dr. W's Tip 💡

One rough week will not define your success in this class – I promise! Keep moving forward—consistency matters more than perfection.

Late Work — What's Flexible & What's Not

- Homework only may be submitted up to one day late (no penalty).
 - Essays, drafts, and post-essay reflections are not accepted late without prior written permission.
 - Extensions must be requested before the deadline—not after.

Grades & Feedback — What to Expect

- Grades for homework and discussions are updated weekly in Blackboard.
 - Essay grades will be posted within two weeks after you submit the final, revised version of the essay.

Submitting Your Work — What to Know

To help you succeed in this course, please be sure that you:

- Submit quality, college-level work that is written professionally and free from slang. All assignments are due on the dates listed in Blackboard and on the course schedule.
- Save and keep all work from this class (notes, drafts, outlines, sources) for the entire semester.
- Check your grades regularly in Blackboard so you always know where you stand.

- Submit assignments in Microsoft Word or Google Docs only.
Please note: I cannot accept Pages documents or PDFs.
- Upload assignments to the correct location in Blackboard:
 - Homework → assignment link
 - Essays → Turnitin link

Uploading to the wrong area may result in a grade of 0.
- Make sure your document is fully attached before submitting.
Submitting a blank or incomplete document may result in a grade of 0.

Dr. W's Tip 💡

Before clicking "Submit," take 30 seconds to double-check:

- ✓ correct file
- ✓ correct link
- ✓ document opens properly

This small habit can save you a lot of stress!

Essay Requirements — The Big Picture

- You will write three major essays this semester.
- Each essay includes an outline, a draft, and a final revision, followed immediately by a post-essay reflection assignment.
- Essays must:
 - Follow the provided assignment instructions and rubric (in Blackboard)
 - Match your outline/prewriting by at least 75%
 - Meet length requirements (usually 550–850 words, unless otherwise noted)
 - Be in the proper APA format
 - Be submitted on time through Turnitin in Blackboard

Dr. W's Tip 💡

Strong essays are built step by step. If you skip prewriting or outlining, the essay almost always struggles and may feel harder to write!

Post-Essay Reflection Assessments

After each final essay, you will complete a post-essay reflection assessment.

Here's what that means:

- Reflections are completed in Honorlock (a secure browser)
- They must be completed in one sitting
- No notes, drafts, essays, or outside sources/web browsers allowed

- You must submit the final revised essay by the essay deadline to unlock and complete the reflection
- Reflections are graded and count as a significant portion of your course grade

Why we do this:

Reflections help you think about how you wrote—not just what you wrote. This metacognitive work is proven to improve future writing. This also serves as another writing assessment!

Feedback on Drafts — How It Works

I work hard to give thoughtful, meaningful feedback on drafts. That feedback is designed to help you learn how to revise and edit your writing, not to correct every single mistake for you.

This means:

- Feedback will focus on patterns, strengths, and next steps
 - It is your responsibility to:
 - revise carefully
 - ask questions
 - use tutoring resources
 - apply feedback thoughtfully to improve your final essay

Draft Grades vs. Final Grades (Important!)

- Grades earned on drafts are not the same as the grade earned on the revised version!
 - Draft grades may be higher or lower than the grade on the revised essay.
 - Drafts will be awarded 100 points automatically if the paper is submitted on time, in the correct format, with the correct word count, has all the necessary requirements for that particular topic/paper, and has no plagiarism/AI match!
 - Revised essays are graded on the standard, English-department rubric.

When Draft Feedback May Not Be Provided

I reserve the right not to provide feedback on a draft if:

- a draft is not submitted
- the draft is written in part/or fully using generative AI
- required outline or pre-writing is missing
- the draft is submitted late

- the draft has been plagiarized

Additionally, feedback may not be provided if a student does not attend or schedule a required draft review meeting during designated weeks.

Discussion Boards — How to Succeed

- Initial post: 100 words, due by Thursday of the week
- One reply: 50 words, due by Sunday of the same week
- Quality, timeliness, and engagement all count
- Discussions cannot be made up due to their real-time nature

Dr. W's Tip

Treat discussions like class participation! I love reading your posts, and it is so rewarding to see students working with and learning from each other!

Discussing Your Writing

At any point during the semester, students should be prepared to verbally discuss any part of their writing—including ideas, structure, sources, and revision and/or word choices – with me, our academic coach, other students during peer reviews, or a tutor.

This may occur during:

- Draft review meetings
- Office hours
- Conferences
- Meetings with the academic coach and/or tutor
- Follow-up conversations regarding authorship of an assignment

Why we do this:

Being able to talk through your writing helps demonstrate your understanding of the work and supports your growth as a writer.

Keep Your Work!

At any point, I may ask you to submit:

- Drafts
- Notes
- Pre-writing
- Outlines
- Source links

For this reason, you should keep all work related to this class until the semester ends.

Dr. W's Tip 💡

If you ever have to explain your writing process, having your work saved makes things quick, easy, and stress-free. Also, if you ever want to go back to look at something, reflect on growth, or simply admire how far you have come as a reader and writer in one short semester, this makes it much easier!

Academic Integrity, Plagiarism, and AI Use

At the heart of this course is learning, growth, and honesty. Students are expected to complete their own work on all projects, quizzes, assignments, digital homework, discussion posts, exams, and papers. Doing your own work allows you to build confidence in your skills and ensures fairness for everyone in the class.

Failure to follow academic integrity policies will result in an F/0 for the assignment and may also result in an F for the course and/or a referral to the Dean of Students.

Please read the following carefully so expectations are clear.

Please do not, under any circumstances:

- Turn in a paper (in whole or in part) that is not your own
- Submit a paper you previously wrote for another course
- Submit a paper (in whole or in part) written using generative AI (such as ChatGPT, Nova GPT, or similar tools), unless explicitly permitted
- Submit a paper using any type of speech-to-text software.

What Is Plagiarism?

Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to:

1. Turning in work that has been purchased, borrowed, or downloaded from another student, website, or paper mill
2. Turning in work that someone else completed for you
3. Copying and pasting information from sources without proper citation
4. Using direct quotations (three or more words) without quotation marks and citation

5. Missing required in-text citations
6. Submitting work you wrote for another class (even your own work)
7. Submitting work that was created (whether small sections or the entire piece), using AI.

Dr. W's Tip

If you ever feel unsure about whether something needs to be cited—ask. You can email me anytime you have a question!

What Constitutes Cheating?

Cheating includes, but is not limited to:

- Obtaining or sharing exams improperly.
 - Accessing exam content before it is given.
 - Using unauthorized materials during quizzes, exams, or homework.
 - Having someone take an exam for you—or taking one for someone else.
 - Altering grade records.
 - Copying another student's work.
 - Rewriting a peer's work during peer review, so it is no longer their own.
 - Taking photos of tests, answers, or another student's work.
 - Using generative AI to write any part of an assignment.
 - Using a translator (human or computerized) to complete writing assignments.

Generative AI Policy (Read Carefully)

Artificial Intelligence (AI) can sometimes be useful as a learning support tool, and in limited cases, we may explore AI together in class. However:

- Only AI tools I explicitly approve may be used
- AI may not replace your own thinking, writing, or creativity
- Submitting work written by AI is a violation of academic integrity

Failure to comply may result in an F/0 for the assignment, an F for the course, and/or a referral to the Academic Dean.

South Plains College's official AI policy can be found here:

<https://www.southplainscollege.edu/syllabusstatements/>

Dr. Warnick's Generative AI Policy

- The only allowable AI tool in this class is MagicSchool AI, only when explicitly permitted.
- You must save all AI history and prompts. MagicSchool stores output, and I may ask you to submit this at any point during the semester.
- Turnitin includes both a plagiarism and an AI detection tool. If an assignment is flagged and/or differs significantly from your prior work, I will contact you for a conversation.

In a first-offense situation only, you may be offered a limited opportunity to rewrite the assignment without AI or technological assistance. If this option is declined, and/or there is sufficient evidence of AI usage, the assignment will receive a 0.

I may also request supporting materials (drafts, notes, outlines, source links, and/or verbal review of the essay/assignment/discussion post). For this reason, students should keep all work related to this class until the semester ends.

For any continued and/or additional violations involving AI use (including homework, discussions, pre-writing, and/or essays), consequences may include:

- A 0 on the assignment
- An F in the course
- An administrative drop with an F

Dr. W's Tip 💡

My goal is to help you learn honestly and confidently, and that includes how to ethically utilize AI tools! When your work reflects you, I can support you much more effectively!

📌 Syllabus Updates & Course Flexibility

I reserve the right to amend, add, delete, or adjust course information—including dates and assignments—as needed to best support learning outcomes in this course. Any changes will be clearly communicated through Blackboard.

This syllabus is based on the South Plains College master syllabus, which outlines the core content and objectives for this course, regardless of the instructor, location, or format. While all instructors follow these shared objectives, there is also flexibility to explore additional topics or approaches that support the course goals and enhance your learning experience.
