Topics include introductory treatments of sets and logic, financial mathematics, probability and statistics with appropriate applications. Number sense, proportional reasoning, estimation, technology, and communication should be embedded throughout the course. Additional topics may be covered.

Student Learning Outcomes: Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

1. Apply the language and notation of sets.
2. Determine the validity of an argument or statement and provide mathematical evidence.
3. Solve problems in mathematics of finance.
4. Demonstrate fundamental probability/counting techniques and apply those techniques to solve problems.
5. Interpret and analyze various representations of data.
6. Demonstrate the ability to choose and analyze mathematical models to solve problems from real-world settings, including, but not limited to, personal finance, health literacy, and civic engagement.

Supplies: A 1-inch 3 ring binder is recommended for storing in class notes and graded homework assignments. Students will need a pen or pencil to write with. A TI-30X calculator is required for the course. If the student does not have one, a calculator will be assigned from the school.

Homework and Quizzes: Homework will be assigned after each section of notes and will be due two class days after the assigned day. A quiz will be given after 2-3 lessons and will cover the content in those lessons. The quizzes and homework assignments will be separate grades.

Late Work: Late assignments will be deducted 10 points per day late. Assignments turned in 10+ days after the due date will result in a 0. Extensions will be given for missed class days and extenuating circumstances.

Bell Ringers: Bell ringers will be done daily in the first five minutes of class. A question will be displayed on the board and students will answer the question on a bell ringer sheet. The bell ringer sheets will be turned in every Friday. Write ABSENT if you were gone on a day.

Exams: There will be an in class exam at the conclusion of every chapter we complete in class. A final comprehensive exam will be given at the end of the course in May.

- Have phone off and away
- Not bring drinks into the classroom

Grading Policy: A (90-100%), B (80-89%), C (70-79%), D (60-69%), F (0-59%).

The student's final grade will be calculated with the following category weights. All grades will be kept in Skyward.
