

Common Course Syllabus History 1302 Revised December 10, 2024

Department: Social Sciences

Discipline: History

Course Number: HISTORY 1302

Course Title: United States History II

Credit: 3 Lecture, 0 Lab

This course partially satisfies a core curriculum requirement: American History Foundational Component Area (060)

Available Formats: Conventional (Fully Face-to-Face), Fully Online, Hybrid, ITV

Campus: Levelland, Downtown Center, Plainview, Dual Credit

Textbook: Varies according to instructor.

Course Specific Instructions: Each instructor will attach his/her course with specific instructions.

Course Description: A survey of the social, political, economic, cultural, and intellectual history of the United States from the Civil War/Reconstruction era to the present. United States History II examines industrialization, immigration, world wars, the Great Depression, Cold War and post-Cold War eras. Themes that may be addressed in United States History II include: American culture, religion, civil and human rights, technological change, economic change, immigration and migration, urbanization and suburbanization, the expansion of the federal government, and the study of U.S. foreign policy.

Course Objectives addressed:

1. critical thinking: to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation, and synthesis of information.
2. communication: to include effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral and visual communication.
3. social responsibility: to include intercultural competence, knowledge of civic responsibility, and the ability to engage effectively in regional, national, and global communities.
4. personal responsibility: to include the ability to connect choices, actions, and consequences to ethical decision-making.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, students should be familiar with the evolution of the nation and its role in the world from the mid-nineteenth century to the early twenty-first century. This would include the ability to:

- Create an argument through the use of historical evidence.
- Analyze and interpret primary and secondary sources.
- Analyze the effects of historical, social, political, economic, cultural, and global forces on this period of United States history.

Student Learning Outcomes Assessment: A writing assignment rubric will be used to determine the extent of improvement that the students have gained during the semester.

Course Evaluation: See the instructor's course information sheet for specific items used in evaluating student performance.

Attendance Policy: Students must make every effort to attend face-to-face courses. Whenever absences become excessive and in the instructor's opinion, minimum course objectives cannot be met due to absences, the instructor may recommend that the student withdraw from the course. Each instructor will have additional information about attendance on his/her course information sheet.

Dropping a Course: Students may drop courses through Texan Connect, the Admissions and Records Office, or Advising and Testing Center through the late registration period.

After late registration has closed, a student must complete the online Student Initiated Drop Request to drop a course.

Students may also drop courses in person at any campus location by completing a Student Initiated Drop Form. Complete a Student Initiated Drop Form and return the signed form to the Levelland Admissions and Records Office, the Student Support Center at the Lubbock Downtown Center, the Lubbock Career and Technical Center, or Plainview Center. You must have a picture ID to complete the drop.

A mark of "W" will be given for student-initiated drops that occur prior to and through the last day to drop as indicated in the online Academic Calendar found here: <https://www.southplainscollege.edu/academiccalendar/index.php>.

SUPPLEMENTAL MATERIALS:

I will occasionally assign additional readings such as journal articles, primary sources, or videos. Those will always be posted digitally to Blackboard for the appropriate week.

WHY:

“We are not makers of history. We are made by history.” --Martin Luther King, Jr. (1963)

Course Objectives/Learning Outcomes:

- ☐ Identify political, economic, geographic, and social characteristics of eras in American history.
- ☐ Analyze the connections between past events and the context in which they occurred.
- ☐ Examine and analyze primary and secondary sources to better understand the issues and events surrounding eras in American history.
- ☐ Develop research and critical reading skills.
- ☐ Develop argumentative writing skills and implement proper grammar and mechanics to communicate in writing.
- ☐ Effectively express one's ideas and interpretations of the past through class discussions and written assignments.
- ☐ Receive appropriately and consider the ideas and interpretations of others about the past.

HOW:

Grading Categories	Grading Breakdown
Policy Acceptance A policy quiz will be given the first week of class to communicate course expectations and policies. Learning Engagement: Measured using 6 Blackboard (Bb) activity log checks by the professor. Ideally a student will have 3-5 hours working within the course and submit all assignments on time for the week. Learning engagement will be scored six times throughout the course with the point value increasing as the course continues. For example, I will score activity logs twice during the first 5 weeks at a value of 10 points each check. Then again at 15 points at some time during weeks 6-10 and finally again in the last 5 weeks at 25 points each check.	Policy Quiz: 25 points Learning Engagement: Weeks 1-5 (2@10points) = 20 Weeks 6-10 (2@15 points)= 30 Weeks 11-15 (2@25 points) = 50 *Total 125 points
Reflective Learning Analysis: (RLA) In these assignments, the student will produce a reflective essay as a checkpoint for understanding. Each RLS should be 400 words (+10%/-10%). In the essay, the student may address the questions: What have you learned so far? How does the content of the lessons connect to the world around you? What evidence have you found most interesting and why? What questions do you still have?	100 points 5 @ 20 points each
History Labs: The work of historians includes two main skills: (1) critically reading primary and secondary source materials and (2) analytical writing about such materials and the past. We will apply these skills to class content throughout the semester.	240 points 8 @ 30 points each
Quizzes: Quizzes will be based primarily on assigned reading. However, some quizzes may include content from class discussions and additional materials from in-class meetings. Quizzes may include multiple-choice and/or short-answer responses. One cannot expect to do well on quizzes if one does not read the book or participate in class.	450 points 15 @ 30 points each
Synthetic Essay (Project) In this project- students will answer a historical question through the process of inquiry. The project goals include: ☐ Utilize library resources such as books and scholarly journals ☐ Develop skills to consume historiography in a responsible manner ☐ Incorporate primary source analysis to support historical argument ☐ Learn techniques in the writing process ☐ Improve written communication skills ☐ Credit sources appropriately	☐ Topic selection / Opening Reflection= 15 points ☐ Source Analysis= 20 points ☐ Bibliography =20 points ☐ Outline and 1st Draft= 25 points ☐ Final Essay =100 points 185 points
Grading Summary: A= 1000-900 points B= 899-800 points C= 799-700 points D= 699-600 points F= 599-0 points	Total Points Available- 1100 *Please note, there is a "bonus" of 100 points available on top of the 1000 maximum for an "A." This is intentional and serves as a built-in method to recover credit for lower grades. Please do not ask for "extra credit" as it is built into the grading categories.

Weekly Schedule- I do not accept late submissions, it is critical that you stay on schedule! You may always work ahead, however, due dates are the LAST day to submit assignments

Everything Else:

Academic Dishonesty:

Academic dishonesty commonly comes in the form of cheating or plagiarism both of which are addressed below, however, twenty-first-century students are clever in finding new ways to avoid doing work.

Therefore, it is at the instructor's discretion to determine what qualifies as academic dishonesty and respond accordingly. Academic dishonesty can result in reduced credit, a zero, withdrawal from the course, or disciplinary action as outlined in the SPC code of conduct.

- Cheating: Cheating can include using unpermitted materials to complete an assignment, quiz, or test. Copying answers from another student or past class materials, or allowing others to use your class materials for their own nefarious purposes. Students must acknowledge all work assigned is to be completed individually unless otherwise noted.
- Plagiarism: Plagiarism is the intentional or unintentional use of another person's written or creative work without proper citation or credit. More accurately it is, "an act or instance of using or closely imitating the language and thoughts of another author without authorization and the representation of that author's work as one's own, as by not crediting the original author."¹ In other words, if you copy someone else's work (including internet sources) and claim you wrote it, you are plagiarizing. This includes AI technology such as OpenAI, ChatGPT, or similar programs. This is a serious offense and will be handled accordingly. Any work suspected of AI or other types of plagiarism will receive an automatic ZERO. If you would like to challenge a zero on a submission, you may schedule an in-person opportunity within 48 hours of the grade posting to submit an alternate written assignment designed by the instructor to verify mastery of the concepts.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AGREEMENT

It is important that you submit your own work so I can provide meaningful feedback to you to inform your learning process. If I don't know what you do or don't know, I can't adjust my instruction to better support your learning. It's okay not to know. Learning to ask questions and learning HOW to learn is what college education is all about.

Academic integrity means you own what you know, acknowledge what you don't know, and are transparent about the ideas or words you use that were drawn from others' work or through the use of AI tools. Sometimes, I'll ask you to retrace your steps so I can affirm, understand, or assist in the process you've used to complete a task. I'll always ask you to cite your sources. I'll always expect you to give credit to others or to a technology tool when credit is due.

Academic dishonesty involves any attempt to take credit for knowledge or skills that you don't actually possess as your own. If you cannot explain your work after it has been completed, it may or may not be evidence of academic dishonesty. However, it is evidence that you haven't internalized that knowledge or those skills yet. If that is the case, I need to know so I can help you take the next steps necessary to learn.

Adapted from AI With Intention, by Tony Frontier (2025)

- Recording of Class Meetings and Conversations: Students may not record (audio or video) class meetings, lectures, discussions, or conversations—whether in person or online—without the prior explicit consent of the instructor and any other participants being recorded. This prohibition includes recordings made on phones, computers, tablets, smart devices, or any other recording technology.

- Recording may be permitted only when required as a documented disability accommodation approved through the institution's accessibility or disability services office. In such cases, recordings are for the student's personal academic use only and may not be shared, distributed, posted online, or used for any purpose beyond the course.

Absences/Late or Missed Assignments:

- Absences: This course is 100% online and there is no face-to-face attendance required. It is your responsibility to manage your time and develop a schedule to complete all work ON TIME. The choice to participate in dual credit courses means the student accepts the responsibility of time management at a college-level. High school schedules, events, activities, etc are not taken into consideration by South Plains College and do not constitute a justification for late or missing work.

*Student-Athletes or Extracurricular Participants: If you have a scheduled absence that interferes with a class assignment or deadline, it is your responsibility to submit the assignment before you depart. Late work will not be accepted for school trips or extracurricular activities.

- Late Work: Late work will not be accepted without a documented emergency, illness, or verified problem with the Blackboard server. Again, if there is a problem submitting an assignment it is the responsibility of the student to contact the instructor via email BEFORE the deadline passes. All late assignments meeting the criteria above are subject to reduced credit.

Technology Statement: Technology failures or difficulties are not valid excuses for late or missed assignments unless it is a verifiable Blackboard server problem. If you are submitting an assignment minutes before a deadline and there is a technical problem, that is an unfortunate consequence of procrastination. In other words, do not wait until the last minute to submit an assignment. An excellent scholarly citizen turns in work in a timely manner that allows for solving any technical problems. Furthermore, it is the responsibility of the student to double-check that all assignments are posted or submitted properly.

Minimum technology requirements for this course:

- ☐ Laptop / Desktop PC that can operate Blackboard, Chrome (browser), GoogleDocs, and HonorLock proctoring
- ☐ Internet access for all online elements / assignments
- ☐ Functioning camera and mic for recording
