

Title IX Pregnancy and Parenting Accommodation Information and Application

Title IX Pregnancy and Parenting Accommodation protects students and/or their partners from discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth, termination of pregnancy, and recovery. South Plains College may grant a reasonable adjustment to continue education to a pregnant or parenting student for as long as it is deemed medically necessary.

Completion of the process by the student is necessary to ensure accommodation is provided. Students are responsible for completing all assignments and course expectations. Frequent communication between the student, the office of Health & Wellness, and each of your instructors is required to successfully complete this process. Then, watch your SPC email closely for the next steps to complete the process.

For more information, please contact the office of Health & Wellness at 806-716-2529.
